

BAROZZI VEIGA

Barozzi Veiga was founded in Barcelona by Fabrizio Barozzi and Alberto Veiga in 2004. The practice has since worked internationally in public and private projects receiving several prestigious distinctions.

Barozzi Veiga's work, which mainly includes cultural and educational buildings, is characterized by the intention to arrive at solutions that are rooted in place, architectures that can be perceived over time and that have an emotional content. Concepts and ideas which create specific atmospheres, that are architecturally clear and expressive, and able to have a meaning by itself.

Barozzi Veiga won numerous prizes in national and international competitions. Its built work includes the Ribera del Duero Headquarter (2011), the Auditorium Infanta Elena in Águilas (2011), the Szczecin Philharmonic Hall (2014), the Bündner Kunstmuseum in Chur (2016), the Ragenhaus Musikschule in Bruneck (2018), the Musée cantonal des Beaux-Arts Lausanne (2019) and the Tanzhaus Zürich (2019).

Among the important prizes, Barozzi Veiga has been distinguished with the Ajac Young Catalan Architect Award (2007) and the Barbara Cappochin International Architecture Award (2011). In 2012 the Ribera del Duero Headquarter, Barozzi Veiga's first built work, was awarded with the Gold Medal for Italian Architecture for the Best Debut Work 2012. In 2015 the project for the Szczecin Philharmonic received the prestigious Mies van der Rohe Award for European Architecture and the International FAD Award. In 2018 the Bündner Kunstmuseum in Chur, Switzerland, was awarded with the RIBA Award for International Excellence, which distinguished the best 20 buildings constructed worldwide during the last three years. In 2019 Barozzi Veiga has been granted the Chicago Athenaeum International Award, the Best Architects 20 Award and the AD Award Architects of the Year. In 2020 the office has been shortlisted for the International FAD Award and for the Dezeen Awards. More recently, the newly built MCBA Lausanne won the NAN Award, the Grand Prix Fritz-Höger-Preis 2020 for Brick Architecture and the Gran Prix at the DNA Paris 2021.

During the years, the office has been invited to contribute to several international exhibitions, including the Chicago Architecture Biennial (2017) and the Biennale di Venezia (2014 and 2016). In 2016 Barozzi Veiga presented 'A sentimental monumentality', an installation and an essay that defined the conceptual framework of its work, later compiled in the monographs: Barozzi Veiga edited by Park Books (2014); a+u 535 (2015); A-Mag (2018); TC 149 (2021). Since 2019, a selection of drawings and models by Barozzi Veiga became part of the permanent collection of the Centre Pompidou in Paris.

Fabrizio Barozzi (1976) is an Italian architect. He studied architecture at the Istituto Universitario di Architettura di Venezia and completed his academic studies at the Escuela Técnica Superior de Arquitectura de Sevilla and at the Ecole d'Architecture de Paris La Villette.

Since the beginning of his career, he maintained a balance between his professional activity and his academic involvement. He has been associated professor at the International University of Catalonia and at the University of Girona, and Visiting professor at the Istituto Universitario di Architettura di Venezia, at the MIT Boston and at the Cornell University in Ithaca.

Alberto Veiga (1973) is a Spanish architect. He studied architecture at the Escuela Técnica Superior de Arquitectura de Navarra.

He has been Professor at the International University of Catalonia and Visiting Professor at the Istituto Universitario di Architettura di Venezia, at the Escuela de Arquitectura Universidad San Sebastian in Santiago de Chile and at La Salle Barcelona.

He taught and lectured worldwide at schools of architecture in Spain, Italy, Portugal, Switzerland, Netherland, United Kingdom, Chile and United States.
